Viña del Mar, also known as the Garden City, was founded on 29th December 1874, by the engineer Jose Francisco Vergara, and has grown into the most luxurious beach resort town of Chile, attracting visitors from all over the world.

Some come to Viña del Mar's languid tropical atmosphere, its grand tree lined boulevards, its vast, soft stretches of white sand beach, and its sybaritic abundance of gourmet restaurants.

While the celebrity of Viña has brought it any number of sleek, modern buildings and hotels, the character of the town is set by its many charming colonial houses.

Viña is famous because of the Musical Festival, which is held every year in the third week of February and lasts for five days. Telephone: Country code: 56, Area code: 32

Climate: The weather is generally considered to be Mediterranean, with rains restricted exclusively to the winter season. Proximity to the sea means that the land temperatures are regulated by ocean currents during the summer and winter months (October to March and April to September respectively) making the former warm and pleasant and the latter mild, with temperatures ranging between 10 and 22 degrees C. The mild climate and lack of morning frost in winter has helped the growth of robust vegetation, including both autochthonous and imported species, with such plants as the bougainvillea, hibiscus and golden thimbles, whose gilded petals can often be seen creeping up between railway sleepers.
