How to get here

Plane

Aalborg has a local airport with multiple direct flights daily from Copenhagen (CPH) and Amsterdam Schiphol (AMS). There are also four flights a week from London Stansted (STN).

Bus

You can travel from the airport to the hotel by bus for approximately 22 kr but cash will be required. Take the Number 12 bus from the airport to Aalborg bus terminal, which takes about 20 minutes. It is then a 10-minute walk to the hotel through the Kildeparken (park).

Taxis

It is usually possible to find a taxi outside the airport but if you want to book a taxi or find a taxi number see the link below:

DanTaxi 4x48 Aalborg

Uber and similar companies do not operate in Denmark.

Train

Aalborg train station is next to the bus station and is a 10-minute walk to the hotel through Kildeparken (park).

Weather

The weather in Aalborg in February is cold but reasonably dry with day/night temperatures averaging between +3 to -2 °C. February is the driest month in Aalborg but there is the possibility of snow.

The wind can make it feel colder so suitable coats, hats, gloves and scarves are recommended.

Language and currency

Danish is the national language but English is widely spoken.

Currency is the Danish kroner (DKK)

Plug type

Denmark's electrical voltage is 220-volt AC, 50Hz current and uses a standard two pin continental Europe plug.

If you are travelling from an area that uses 110/125V appliances, check if you will need to use a transformer.

Information on Aalborg

For information on places to visit in Aalborg, see the Visit Aalborg site.

There is a Viking burial ground north of Aalborg and running routes close to the meeting venue can be found here
